Class of February

1942

JOHN BARTRAM HIGH SCHOOL
PHILADELPHIA, PENNSYLVANIA

William E. Burkard

January 28th, 1942.

To the Members of the Fourth Class of the John Bartram High School—

Your gift to the school was the painting showing the discovery, by John Bartram and his son William, of the bubbling springs or "fountains" in Florida. This incident occurred during a trip made by John Bartram in 1765 shortly after his appointment as official Botanist to the King for the Colonies. The trip through the Carolinas, Georgia, and Florida followed, lasting through the fall and winter of 1766.

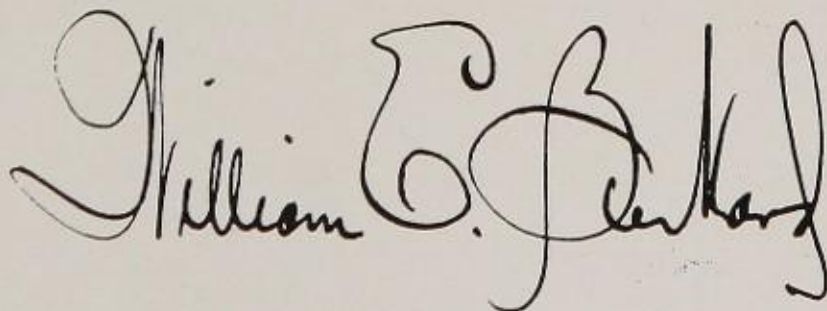

John Bartram was at that time sixty-six years old — quite a voyage for one of his years. He had physical endurance; no hardship was permitted to interfere with the faithful performance of his duties.

The "fountains" in Florida, caused by the up-rush of waters from subterranean caverns, were probably similar to those that may be seen today by tourists at Silver Springs and other places. To John Bartram they were a constant source of wonder. He was fond of the strange and the unusual in Nature. His very start as a botanist was based on his wonder at the perfection of design in the humble daisy.

It was in the field of botany that he became famous, but John Bartram's fame was no accidental thing. He had the qualities of greatness. This is shown by the friendship of other great men, their respect for him, and his extensive correspondence with famous scholars abroad.

For each of you, the members of this modern Fourth Class and spiritual sons and daughters of John Bartram, I wish these qualities that were responsible for the success of the man whose name this school so proudly bears —

*Faithfulness to duty,
Physical endurance,
An inquiring mind.*

A large, elegant handwritten signature in dark ink, reading "William E. Burkard". The signature is written in a cursive style with large, flowing loops and a prominent initial "W".

WILLIAM E. BURKARD, Principal.

Dedication for the Trailmarker

The first class to graduate from John Bartram High School was known as the "Trailblazers". The second class saw fit to dedicate itself to "Consolation" and the third class to "Inspiration".

Our class, during its stay at Bartram, has striven to add new ideals to the already high standards set by the preceding classes. It is for this reason that we have decided to dedicate ourselves to "Leadership".

It was leadership which played an important part in the life of John Bartram. Had he not been the embodiment of this quality, he would never have become the great man whose name we now cherish.

We, as a class, have had the unusual honor of being the first group of students to advance through Bartram from the lowest grade to the highest. In doing so we have served as leaders for all future classes which may enter this school.

As we go on in life, we shall constantly see how important leadership is to all civilization. Without it, there would be no advancement. Science, politics, and culture would be at a standstill. There would be no one to look ahead and see the great possibilities in the future.

Let us hope, as we go out into the world, that this quality will better enable us to dedicate our services to the advancement of mankind.

It is, with this thought in mind, that the February class of 1942 dedicates itself to "Leadership".

Assistants to the Principal

Your faculty has attempted to prepare you to take a real place in society and to render valuable service. My most sincere wish is that they have accomplished this.

WM. H. BOERCKEL.

Tolerance is a necessary asset for any one of my age. Would that I could bestow upon you a tolerant spirit, for then I am sure you are equipped with a most valuable tool as you leave John Bartram.

My very best wishes.

HELEN A. HADLY.

Hail and farewell. What else can I say to a class whom I do not know, except "Hello, good luck and good-bye." Bartram will miss you. I hope you will miss Bartram.

SCHOOL ACTIVITIES

To the Class of February, 1942:

You have had the advantage over preceeding classes of completing three full years in John Bartram High School.

Each one has helped in the organization of the school, watched it grow and has contributed in no small part to the creation of our school spirit.

I hope that after you graduate you will continue in the same spirit of work, service, and unselfishness.

To all of you I tender my best wishes for your success and happiness.

Sincerely,

Hazel C. MacLean

GEORGE WALLACE

S. A. President

I came to John Bartram from Tilden Junior High School where I received a meritorious honor certificate. In 10B and 11A I represented my class in the House of Representatives. I was a member of the corridor patrol almost every term. In 12A I became Vice-President of the Students' Association and now in my last term I have the honor of holding the highest position in the student government — that of its president.

JANE OATES

S. A. Vice-President

In 11A I held my first public office, that of Class President. Also during this term, I was in Dr. Burkard's Advisory Council. This was an experience which I shall never forget. Now in my senior year, I am one of the Drum Majorettes of our fine band, and I hold a very honored office in the Students' Association — that of Vice-President.

RALPH BULLEY

S. A. Vice-President

My school activities in Bartram began in 10A when I was elected Senator. In 10B I was class representative. I became Vice-President of the 11A class. In 11B I was again senator. I have been a member of the corridor patrol every term. I participated in a play given for the 10A's. I am now holding my highest office — that of Vice-President of the Students' Association.

THOMAS CONNOR

S. A. Chief Justice

Entering Bartram from the Tilden Junior High School, I took part in inter-class basketball. I acted as P. A. S. representative and served as captain on the corridor patrol. In 11A I started my climb to the office I now hold, by my election as class representative. In 11B I became grade senator, associate judge in 12A, and now I hold the honored position of Chief Justice.

MESSAGE TO THE GRADUATING CLASS

by the S. A. President

At last the long twelve-year journey is over, and we have attained the position of young men and women. As we look back on our school years, we find that the happiest ones have been spent in the John Bartram High School. The honor of the first graduating class to complete the full three years in Bartram has been given to this class. A great many friends have been made, and I hope that in later life you will remember that there are Bartram Alumni meetings, at which time you can come back and renew your old acquaintances. Here's wishing our graduating class the best of luck, and that we all shall be looking forward to seeing each other at our Alumni meetings.

National Honor Society

It is a fact that from our secondary schools of America the future leaders of the nation must come, and they, if they are to serve their country fully in this, its time of need, must find a way of searching out potential leaders and training them in civic usefulness and in civic ideals. The National Honor Society offers one method by which a high school may fulfill this obligation.

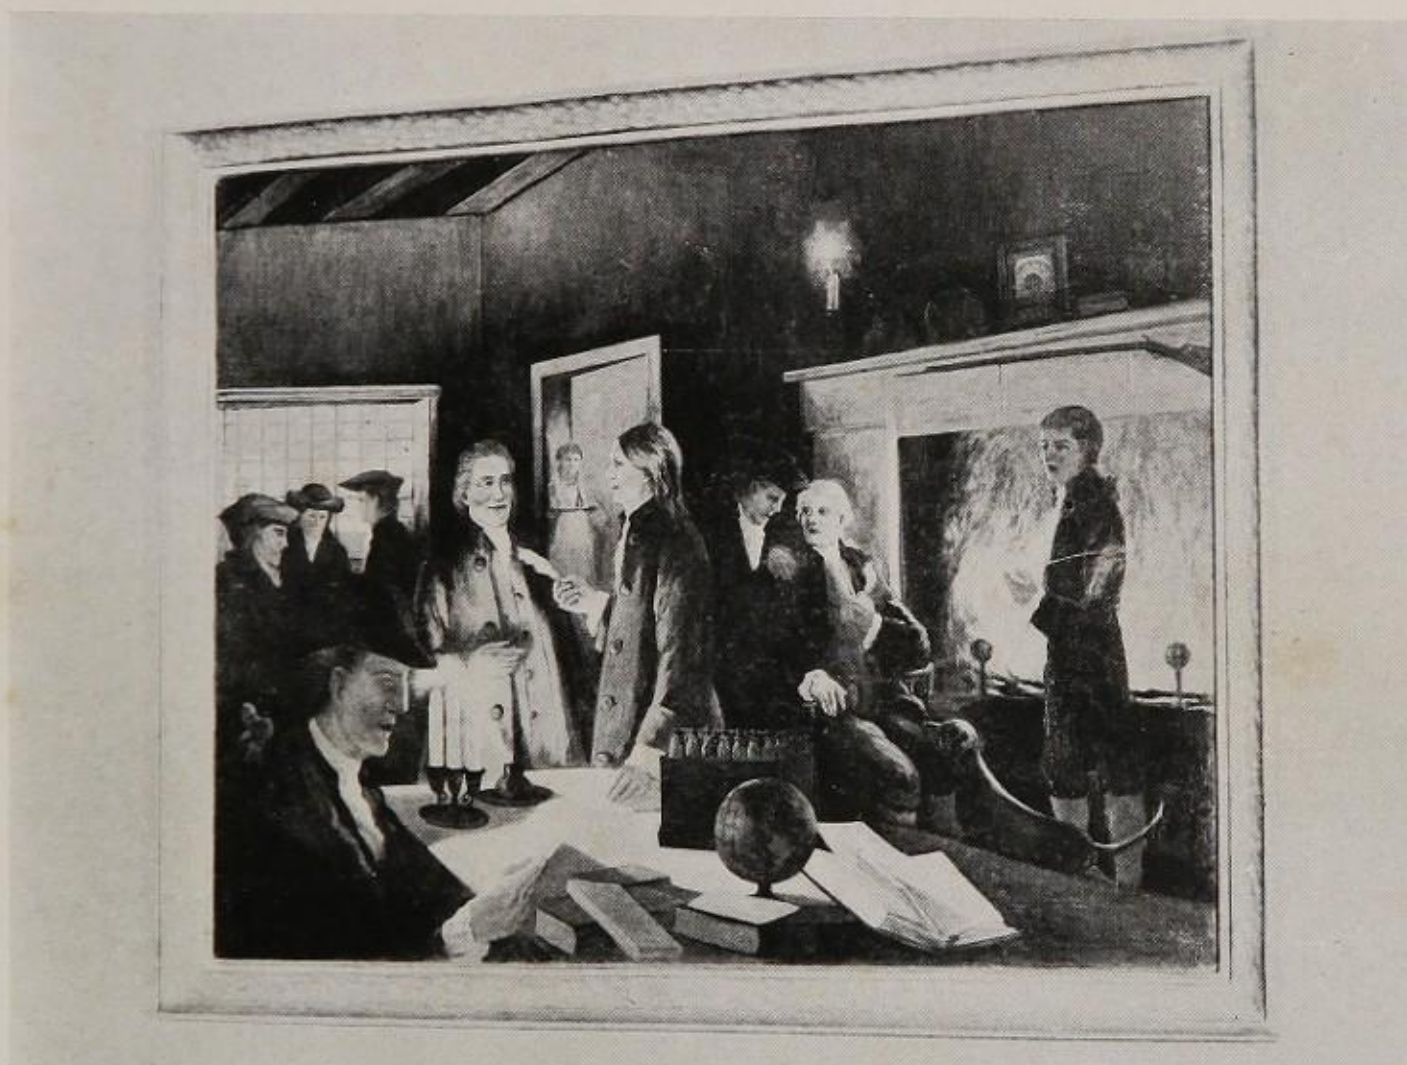

Long may it stand in the glory of its fine principles and help keep America foremost and fine — and as always “America the Beautiful”.

The paintings which adorn the first floor's main corridor were presented to the school by the various classes in the Fall term of 1941.

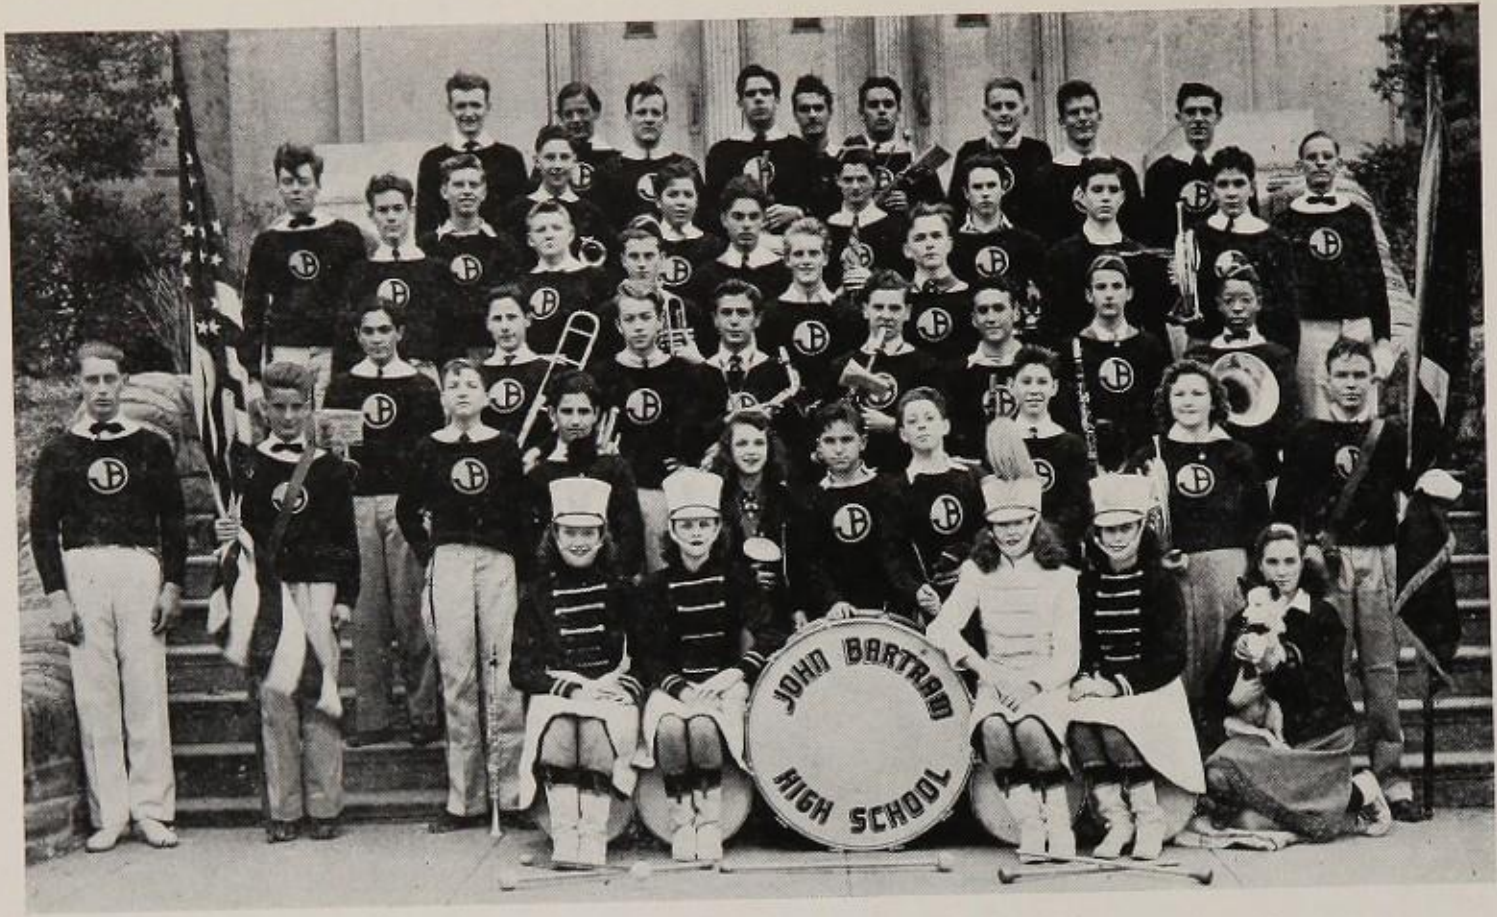

In a formal ceremony on June 3, the works, with the artists involved, were introduced to an assembly of students and distinguished guests.

The subject selection was in line with the desire, on the faculty's part, to further acquaint the students with the interesting life of John Bartram.

Hello, everybody, remember us? We're the fellows who represent the February Class of '42. You'll be seeing quite a lot of us from now on 'cause we're pretty important, you know. Now, as class mascots, we'd like to introduce our sponsors, Mrs. Rotman and Mr. Ott. They have been really swell to the whole class and have done a fine job in leading the class. Let's hear what they have to say for themselves.

MRS. ROTMAN

*"Afoot and light-hearted I take to the open road,
Healthy, free, the world before me,
The long brown path before me leading wherever I choose."
"The Song of the Open Road"—Walt Whitman.*

We have worked and played together. The relationship has been most pleasant. Guidance has often been offered you which you have graciously and, I hope, profitably accepted; but now, yours is the open road, and yours to choose wherever that road may lead. I know that you will choose well. May your choice be crowned with happiness and success.

MR. WILLIAM H. OTT

Dear Friends of the Class of 1942:

I deeply appreciate the honor you conferred upon me when you selected me to co-sponsor your class. The realization of the importance of this honor is the keener, since I feel through me, you in reality expressed a desire to be guided by your faculty.

Three years ago you entered our grand high school with the desire to fit yourselves for honorable careers. You have shown your mettle and made good. You are graduating with a fine foundation in your chosen field of study and are going out into a world of endless opportunities with purpose and courage.

I am proud of you and congratulate you on your achievement. I expect each one of you to fulfill your obligation of living a vital, useful life. I hope the ties which bind you to your Alma Mater will be increasingly stronger and more beautiful.

Sincerest personal thanks, congratulations and all good wishes.

CLASS OFFICERS

Here are some other folks we'd like you to meet: the class officers. The students made a fine choice when they picked these officers to represent them. Now, how about a few words from the class president, Bob Durning!

As we, the class of February 1942 face our commencement year in the John Bartram High School, we hope that we have done as well as the classes before us, and also left something in the school of which we may be proud.

It was three years ago that the John Bartram High School was officially inaugurated. We, with our new principal, Dr. Burkard, entered as freshmen to later become the first class to spend its entire high school life in John Bartram. We feel deeply honored in this, and hope that the following classes will have the same devotion for their Alma Mater.

Our senior year was very pleasant in regard to our activities. The West Point trip proved to be most beautiful and educational, and something we shall always remember. The dances in the gym were enjoyed by everyone. The Prom, Class Day, and the Dinner Dance were the highlights of our senior term. All this could not have been accomplished were it not for the fine work of our sponsors, Mr. Ott and Mrs. Rotman, and all the other teachers and students who helped to make our senior year a success.

May I extend to Dr. Burkard and the members of the faculty my sincerest gratitude and thanks for all they have done for us during our stay at John Bartram? I should like to wish them, and also my fellow students, success and well-being throughout the future years.

ROBERT DURNING.

Have you ever been lost? Not exactly lost but — well, lost. I knew where I was, but I wanted to go somewhere else. I had enough trouble looking for the building that I wanted, but when I did find it, most of my troubles were still before me... But I'm getting in front of my story. Here is what happened. (I hope that you will pardon my ego if I write it in the first person singular.)

I'd be willing to wager that the person who originated this system of planning streets also invented jig-saw puzzles. You couldn't find the right building in this town even if you knew it was beside a fish cannery. I wish that our national Senators, Bruce Andrews and George Sinclair, would have some money appropriated so that Rosalie Margulis and Jim Hanes could make some of those direction signs for which they are famous. Our weatherman, Robert Bennett, even says there is no sign of rain. — Let's see... I was looking for the office of Peter Di Mauro, who was going to design a ship for me. I have a crew but nothing for it to sail. My captain, Al Del Raso, hired Elmer Radtke as the first mate, William Engel as the second mate, and Stanley Radcliffe as the third mate. Sounds like bigamy. — I think I'll ask Officer John Sutton the way to the Ray Cochard Building named in honor of that great construction engineer. Oh! You say it's beside the Harry Glick Theater... Here's the theater. There's William Sheridan fixing the wiring on the marquee. It says, "That great impresario, Sidney Engle, presents Leonora Bohn, and Morton Botel in 'Penmar Ward Takes a Bromo', by Wesley Schneyer." I notice Bob Teller is there with his band featuring Pat Maiocco, America's greatest clarinetist, Jimmy MacDowell tromboning, Vincent Nocito drumming his fingers, Joe Kadison fiddling with his beard. — Good trick if he can do it... Oh! Here's the place. The building without a flaw. I knew that George Wallace would forget something... Since the desk clerk, Sammy Weinstein, is asleep, I'll ask the telephone operatress for the room number. "Say, you look just like Margie".

"Who? Margie Gear?"

"Come to think of it, you look like Estelle Smith, my secretary."

"Listen, the name is Doris Simpson, and state your business. Huh? Oh, he's on the ninth floor. By the way, how did the Dodgers make out today? You say Jack Fortin found the ball they dropped in '41? I thought Bob Durning would get it. Anyhow, he was in there pitching.

...I feel sick. I see two John Taylors and three heads. Oh! The one center is cabbage. Well, at least they got ahead. Here's the elevator and its operator, who is Lennie Cutler.

"Up or down?"

"What's the sixty-four dollar question?"

"Come on. I have a game of Mah Jongg to finish with Walter Swartley, Art Tatum, and Al Tustin."

...Here are the officers. Let's see. "William B. Schulze, Jr., attorney-at-law. Secretary, Grace Beach." No wonder he can't keep his mind on his work. — This one is "Appenzeller, Balzano, and Baker; accountants. 'If there is a loss of money, we can account for it.'" Here is the office of Michael Valenza's munitions works. "If at first you don't succeed, try, try a gun." I wonder if Annabel McCorkle is his secretary. It is she or Lillian Orlick... Oh! There's the elevator. "Hey! Wait for me." Mmmm. Coleman Cutler is operating this one. Guess he's working his way through Penn State. "Ninth floor, please." What a shaky elevator. No wonder the elevator company of Joseph Coren, Ernest Punchard, and Jack Stauffer dissolved. I guess that business has its ups and downs... Here I am, I hope. It is very breezy on this floor. Nice blue wallpaper. I imagine that Gemma Ricci designed it... That looks like John Corbett in that revolving balcony. Must be another of Charles Scott's inventions.

"Hello John. What are you doing in this building?"

"Building? I'm flying the mail to Pittsburgh. Here's Morton Schwartz, my mechanic.

PROPHECY

John Rejebian is one of my passengers. He's on his concert tour. Edith Lindstrom, his pianist, is here too. So loooooong!"

"What? I was brought all the way up here by that elevator! Yes. My nose is bleeding. I left my Dr. William Hoehing's nose plugs home. Help! I need a nurse." Ah! Here comes a whole gang of them. They must think I'm Dr. Kildare.

"Nurse Mary Rhine reporting."

"Nurse Ruth Criswell ready to cut up."

"Name is Sylvia Abelson. Where's the corpse?"

"What's good for a bloody nose?"

"A sock on the snoot."

"My dear Nurse Irene Stoller. Will you please tell your confrere Fae Familant to take off that tourniquet? It won't work."

"You don't know how many patients we lose that way!"

...I have to get away from here. Ah! Here comes relief...I knew the girls would follow Russell Gilbert...I still have to get to the ninth floor. I think I'll go into this office and find the way. Let's see. "The American Society for the Conservation of Everything by the Use of Nothing." I might as well walk in and listen to the lecture. It's just starting.

"I, Edwin Gillespie, President of the A. S. C. E. U. N., wish to introduce Ruth Bird, emanent home economics teacher."

"Why not conserve potatoes? For French fried potatoes use turnips. It doesn't taste like potatoes. That's why it's so novel. It may sound difficult, but it works!"

"I had hoped to bring to you today, Dorothy Ritchie, the music teacher, Adelaide Ammon, Lois Barbanell, and Ruth Vierling, also members of the teaching profession, but as the man said when he cut the magazine in half, "Time" is getting short."

...I'm right back where I started. "Pardon me, but could you direct me to the ninth floor?"

"Sorry, but I can direct you to the First National Bank. My name is Benjamin Frank. I'm a bank director. If you want a loan, just make an appointment with my private secretary, Harriet Brodkin, or Eileen Duffy, my not so private secretary. Goodbye."

...My last chance is the protographer's studio. What a motto! "Miracle Photo. Co. If it's a good picture, it's a Miracle! The owners are James Crouse and Alexander Xenakis. Oh well! Things are bad all over. "Say, Alex, you have quite a collection of pictures here. There's one of Pennsylvania's football team of '45. I see Bill Confalone, Lloyd Van Syckle, Vincent De Falco, and Charles Faust. Here's the basketball team also; Gordon Burke, Paul Carden, and Chester Kochesperger. This is a picture of Christopher Brennan, soloist, James Entrican and George Haas of the Philharmonic, and Mary DiMaggio and Regina Mullen, trippers of the light fantastic. Here's a camera oddity. It looks like a parachute jumper; Andrew Ruffin, as he floated by lineman, Robert Dugan, had an upheld arm which appeared to jab Bob's eye. Seems to be a job for optometrist, Stanley Simkins. This picture on the end shows daring. Ruth Smith is thundering down David Holmes' newly paved street and George Allston, when taking a metal bar from his garage to Charles Heaton to be welded, stepped to within three feet of the curb. I can still hear the bell as Robert Jones drove his ambulance to the Albert Kleeman Hospital for Defenseless Pedestrians. I hear they used the car as a book end for the unabridged edition of "My Boy Friends" by Virginia Pellechea. Ah! — a picture of the finalists in the Miss America contest. There's Helen Milligan, Mary McCullen, Jane Gamage, Ruth Minter, and Elaine Wells...Enough of this browsing. I'll ask the clerk to direct me to the ninth floor. The sign says his name is Frederick Grabenstein. "Pardon me, clerk, but could you show me the way to the ninth floor?"

"I'm not the clerk. My name is Richard McAlonan, hiring agent for this firm. I have to hurry. There are five girls waiting to see me about getting a position of secretary here; Jane McMichael, Mary Nichau, Elizabeth Harrison, Dorothy Fleming, and Antoinette Ciocco. The secretary we have now has been here for several years, but she's on her last lap now."

...And so with this I bid a fond farewell to this center of industry, wandering in the vicinity of the twenty-fifth floor. I flopped down disgusted onto a chair. I wished I was in West Point with Joe Procopio; in Alaska as Herbert Roebuck tried to sell refrigerators to the eskimos. He was there four months last night. I wished I was with Harry Hartz, as he dictated his biological notes to Evelyn Slutsky. I can see Joseph Allston as he delivered the mail to Robert Allen, foreign correspondent of the Morris London Times.

...I guess there is nothing I can do but put on this radio.

"Hello everyone. This is George Lunn, your favorite radio announcer, telling you to eat Helen Lamb's meat balls. They won't just harden your muscle, you'll be petrified. And now I turn you over to James Sweeney, conductor of the 'Tell it to Sweeney' hour. — Sir, I want to present Miss Freda Schwartz, white collar girl."

"Good afternoon, Miss. And what is your problem?"

$2ax + 11y - 3z = 15.$ "

"A very good problem. I'm sorry I can't answer you. It comes under the jurisdiction of the Smith quads; Elizabeth C. Smith, Elizabeth I. Smith, Mary K. Smith, and Agnes Woods."

"How did that last name get in?"

"Didn't you ever hear of a Woods-smith? ...Next case, please. Hey! There's a bottle missing from this case."

"Robert Weyhmuller and Robert DiBenedictis invented an automobile that would run on Pepsi Cola." Robert Fagan and Kathryn Vanaman made the trial run.

"Well, what happened to my bottle?"

"They thought it was after seven o'clock, and Meredith Bollinger and John Woodcock's soda fountain would be closed."

"I'll have to get my female investigators, Carmina Zappone, Caritas Peiffer, Adelina Foschi, and Roberta Barrett on the case." Zzork...

...What a program. I'll try another station.

"...And now I turn you over to John Fereshetian, who will describe the 13th running of the Fifty Cent Stockings Handicap. Take it away."

"I wish I could take it away, but I signed a contract with Emily Wolf and Charles Cannon, who incorporated to make animal crackers. Well! The horses are lined up at the electrical starting gate, which was built by William Sampson especially for the John Thilker race track. They're off! Onion, ridden by William Tracy, is coming strong. William Miller's mount, Skin, is on the outside. Warren Lenton's Cabbage is ahead. And the winner is Banana Peel, who just slipped across the finish line. He was jockeyed by William Hamilton. The horse's owner, Jane Hunnicutt, that million dollar heiress, is placing a wreath of roses from Doris McCarrick's nurseries, around his neck. — The horse's, not the jockey's. After all, the horse did all the work."

...No wonder they laughed at Marconi. I'll try again.

"Hello! Your fashion illustrator, Anne Bogardus, is back with the latest styles. The bustle has definitely disappeared. I consulted with professional models Betty Currinder, Louise Baus, Jean Hock, Frances MacDonald, and Kathryn Vanaman. They say it is gone, and they can't take a back seat to anyone. And now, ladies, here is Jack Preston, who will give you exercises that will keep your figure perfect."

...Walter Steimel and James Powers are the radio engineers in that studio. I wonder why he didn't cut that program off...I guess if they had, George Beck, the production manager, would have cut him off — without a cent. ...Well, what do you know? There's the elevator. Hey, wait. Ah! This one has a hostess, Mary Czaika. "Ninth floor, please." — If Tom Connor was here, he'd sentence the other two operators to hard labor; listening to Wilhemina Curry talk about her etchings or putting curls into Doris Hollard's hair. I think she goes to Albert Harris and Robert Gilchrist, beauticians and pan handlers, to have her hair set...What a slow elevator! Joe Mazzeo could get down faster by using the stairs...This must be my floor. I think I'll sit on this bench and rest...There must be other offices on this floor, too. There's William Hughes in a conductor's uniform. I believe that's Olga Kalinikoff with a pile of books. She must be a librarian. One book is "How to Sell Advertisements" by Theodore Butler. That is Robert Conway and Bernard Watt's book on electricity; "Current Events". "How to be a Nurse in Six Easy Lessons" is written by six nurses; Angelina DiAugustina, Marjorie Cohen, Harriet Wilson, Mary Philips, Doris Trice, and Mildred Butler. The six lessons from Madame La Zonga are more interesting. — Seems to me that I hear music. There's Beatrice Geiger in a studio playing the saxophone with a piano duet; Betty Hartsock and Elaine Yankeloff. Then there are Betty Slipakoff, Betty Marshall, and Lillian Zellman dancing on feathers. Trucking on down as it were.

...I wonder why there is a crowd in the Edwin Owens Employment Office. Oh, I understand. That best built man, James Kotakis, advertised for a secretary. I see Marion Cubit, Mabel Frazier, Helen Dever, Catherine Young, and many others. So many that I doubt that Dorothy Doll could add them up on her comptometer.

...Boy that smells good. They're fresh coffee beans. I think I'll buy a pound. The smell comes from a coffee shop owned by Martha Ditmer and Alma McAfee. It seems to be a very popular place with the teachers from the Lane Fenstermacker School next door. Some of the teachers are Eleanor Hauser, Betty Gilmore, Connie Bowen, Manito Wagner, and Howard Freedman. — Well, I came here for coffee. The waitress is Ethel Bernstein. "Can I get a pound of coffee in the bean on this floor?"

"No sir, you'll get that upstairs. This is the ground floor."

"What?" — I've been tricked. It won't happen again. This time I'll wake up. If I wear out my shoes, I can have Thomas Doherty fix them. Whew! Now I know how Captain Walter Lasuk and Corporal John Grimes feel marching with their troops. From now on, I'm going to be careful in my dealings with elevator men. They are liable to take you up, run you down, and let you out. They never move without pulling wires; you've got to be up and down with them; you give them the floor, and they'll tell you where to get off. You can't believe them, they never stay on the level, always shifting from one story to another...What does this plaque say? "Stairs built by Reginald Jeans, rail carvings by Charles McGrath and Robert Fagan, and platform rugs designed by Nicassio Ursino." They're Rip Van Winkle rugs. They have an unusually long nap...There are a few more flights to go. Oh!...

"Excuse me. My name is Maurice Hamel. Could I interest you in some life insurance?"

"Sell it to the elevator operators. They'll need it."

...This is the ninth flight. That's odd. This seems to be a series of medical offices and clinics. Here is the Herbert Kirschner Dental Parlor. It is called a parlor, because it's a drawing room. What a bevy of nurses; Maria Mirjonts, Emma Hetzer, Sara Gordon, Catherine Boyson, and many others! Look at that governess, Josephine Cassello, with that little boy looking into the dental display case. Listen!

"Nurse. If I had to have false teeth, I'd take that pair."

"Hush! It's bad form to pick your teeth in public."

...It wasn't worth stopping. Here's a modern dental office. Everything is done with machinery. I'll have to see this.

"Agnes Muhlenback at your service. May I show you around? This is the automatic sponge, mirror, forceps, etc. It was invented by Elizabeth Patton, my fellow nurse. Instead of having the aforementioned articles placed in your mouth, this simple gadget shoves 50 pounds of cotton down your throat. This was suggested by David Clark, who said he was missing tools lately. Elizabeth Boyd will explain that other machine to you."

"This is the Harold McDowell-Howard Lomax machine which pulls teeth electrically."

"Now I suppose the Robert Parry dental schools will teach mechanical drawing."

"This is Louise Watson, who will describe that instrument."

"Are these electrical machines connected or just described in series?"

"This is the Donald Ritchie sectional X-ray."

"Well, thank you very much for the demonstrations, but I must leave now."

...It's nice and cool out here in the hall. John Hagerty and Isadore Oberman did a good job with the air-conditioning. There are all professional offices on this floor. I can't understand it. That sign says, "John Driscoll, M. D." I think I'll go in and see how he is.

"Pardon me, but is the doctor in?"

"No, he isn't, but you can wait. I'm his secretary, Betty Hadley. I think the doctor is performing an operation on a book for Mary Chambers, literary editor of the Reader's Digest."

"How can he do that?"

"He's taking out the appendix. Oh, here's the doctor now. — Doctor, what happened to you?!"

"I went down to Harry Gehret's estate to hunt deer with my brother's secretary, Mary Ward, my chauffeur, Michael Sinno, and my two visiting nurses, Lois Combs and Marie Jones, when I fell into a well."

"How many times have I told you to attend the sick and leave the well alone? — Anyway, there's a man to see you."

"I just dropped in to see how you are."

"Fine, and how are you?"

"All right."

"Two dollars, please."

"For what?"

"Professional advice. If you don't have it with you, you can borrow it from the Herbert Mooney Loan Office across the hall."

...I have to get out of here. I'll slip out of this door. It's a chute. Help! Ow! I'm in a mortuary... "Well, if it isn't Jack McKinley. I heard that you were a doctor."

"I follow the medical profession, if that's what you mean."

"How's business?"

"Dead lately. Ever since Dorothy Peters, Susie Harbin, Irene Colestock, and Ina Vance perfected their researches on vitamins, it has been so. The way it looks now, they'll have to kill the people in this town when judgment day comes."

"So long. Be good."...I wonder where I am now. Finding the ninth floor is as hard as passing one of Mr. Ott's tests. — I think I'll rest while reading this newspaper. "Eleanor Farley appointed Superintendent of Schools; Herman Del Raso perfects rocket ship; to save glass, John Morley invents spectacles with verticle black lines for bank tellers." Enough of the headlines; let's see what's on the inside. "Agnes Mesropian captures shorthand championship; Jane Comly and Julia Novak perfects gas driven potato peeler; Ickes has stroke." Things seem to be slow on the society page. "Margaret Stinger entertains at White House. Present at party was James Pitts of the Labrae Tar of the same name. "George Plossi and Edwin Weadley become members of the '400'." They're the two zeroes on the right. — The help wanted columns are full. John Stevens needs a secretary for his Yo Yo business. So do John Devenny and Robert Moore for their astrological bureau. "We guess the future to suit 'yer." I don't think they'll have any trouble. In the "Situations Wanted" columns for secretary are Elizabeth Murray, Marion Jackle, and Mary Harris. The stock market is unsettled today. Leonard McMeen dirigibles are up. Henry Dickhonor saddles are stable. Helen Romanoff ink went down a point. Smith Brothers took another drop. — Here's an innovation. Wesley Jones and Raymond Geist in their foundry are making pots and pans out of airplanes for the Mary Lowe Kitchenware Company. It is for their exhibition on the ninth floor of the Doris Mull Department Store. "The Store for Spifty People." — Mmmm. Ninth floor. Where did I hear that before? Oh yes! I'm still lost. This sign says "the seventh floor". That chute between the doctor's office and the mortuary must have carried me down. Ah! An oasis. An information booth operated by Marie Krauss. "Pardon me, but could you direct me to the ninth floor?"

"Walk down this hall past Edward Soltis's radio shop, turn left at the cosmetic store owned by Alma Rozov and Evelyn Morrow, and down the steps to the store owned by Robert Kennedy."

...Why should she send me there? I want to go upstairs. — Here's the place.

"Hello! Welcome to Kennedy's emporium of mine stores and supplies."

'Mine stores? I said ninth floor. She ought to go to Esther Hershman to have her hearing tested, or I should go to Amedio Morone to have my speech corrected. It couldn't be I. I could speak when I was a year old, but I have to hand it to Job. The Bible says he cursed the day he was born... Well, here I go again. I wish Mrs. Rotman was here to guide me. Offices, offices, names, professions, secretaries. Can't let go of yourself like that, Herb. Not when Jane McVeagh, Betty Krall, Miriam Frazier, and Dorothy Herndon want their classmates to know they are secretaries in this building. Not when Francis Tucker, Benny Weintraub, and George Snyder have worked up to high executive offices. You have to carry on. Ninth floor, remember? Oh yes. Well, here I go again. They ought to call me Perpetual Motion Simon, but there's a limit. I'll ask everyone on this floor, and I'll take an average.

...What a slew of directions! Andrew Yeatts, putting down his monkey-wrench, told me to go south, but I ducked. Attorneys Frank Wisher and Donald Frey with their secretaries Grace Tepper and Beatrice Elliot told me to go West. If I went as far west as they told me to, I'd probably meet the spirit of Horace Greeley walking back. Isabel Meurer and Ethel Holmes told me to take the stairs on the right. I wouldn't know where to take them if I had them. I should have known better than ask Doris Ewing and Dorothy Mellar. They were so wrapped up in their dress business that they told me it was on the bias. Women are all bias. It's bias this and bias that. — Two of them told me to go up these stairs. I think that this time I'll take some escorts to make sure.

...Now I'm settled with five escorts. I took Katherine McGonigle and Josephine Kelly away from their bookkeeping machines, Lorraine Lang away from her dictaphone, Edith Koerner from her comptometer, and Dorothy Hogan from her typewriter. — "This is definitely the ninth floor. Thanks for the help, girls." — There's the place. "Ships, Inc." Why are those five men standing outside? They won't let anyone into the office. They must be pickets. Seeing that they are Charles Tierney, John Wilson, Anthony Fusco, Ralph Weber, and Arthur Townsend, I can get rid of them. Oh, girls! Come back here. I want you to... psst... psst."

...Those ladies' men don't have any self-control. Each picked a girl and went away with her.

...I got past the four secretaries comparatively easily. Elsie Faulkner and Elizabeth Moore were a little difficult, but Marie Miller and Mildred Lamar were cinches. Here is the door to the inside office. What does this sign say? Oh! I'm undone, sunk, crushed. Just look what that sign says, "Out To Launch."

I dreamed it in a dream. — Herbert Simon.

Standing— Betty Moore, Lenore Bohn, Angelina D'Augostino, Eleanore Hauser, Evelyn Slutsky, Doris McCarrick. Seated— Mike Valenza, Mary Ward, Bob Durning, Lillian Zellman, Morton Botel.

Executive Council

"An organization of great worth and ability." This is what has been said of the Council in past Trailmarkers. The Council has guided the class in its activities and made decisions on important questions as well as chosen committees for prom, dinner dance, and trip, and collected dues with unfailing accuracy each dues day.

The main purpose of this small group, consisting of the four class officers and a representative from each group, is to give the students an opportunity for expression. Cabinet members bring questions, suggestions, and complaints from the student to their meetings. Action is then taken on the proposed changes.

You know, if the class is to get what it wants it has to have representatives to tell the sponsors about their wishes. That's just what the executive council's duty is. One person from each advisory section is picked to serve on the council.

PERSONALITIES

In the course of the last few years, certain people have shown that they have special distinguishing qualities. The class held an election to determine just which students were what. Here are the election returns:

SONG

To you who has been a real friend,
gee, I'll never forget
you help. Your tops on my list —

Fondly —

Johnnie

Farewell to thee, John Bartram High,

With nobler hearts, we leave thee.

And tho' we go, each with a sigh,

We cherish each memory of thee.

Such bonds hold us to thee, never to

Be broken, but to grow dearer each day

In thy truth's shining light, closer to thee.

Farewell to thee, but not good-bye,

With memories ne'er to die.

Our thoughts of thee, will ever be

Of tenderest friendship undying.

Thy name we all revere, for it symbolizes

Truth, Love and thy Righteousness.

We go forth, with thy torch, lighting our way.

CLASS ACTIVITIES

Lunchroom

The John Bartram lunch-room is a very well equipped, modern cafeteria. Due to excellent student co-operation the lunch-room, after three years of service, is still as good as new.

All of the food used in the cafeteria is carefully selected and prepared under the supervision of trained dietitians. A staff of sixteen women is kept busy cooking this food for the ravenous students.

All of the kitchen accessories are of the newest models and of the highest quality.

The average consumption of food per day in the cafeteria is staggering. Five hundred bricks of ice cream, three hundred platters, one thousand pretzels, eight hundred and fifty frankfurter platters, and three hundred bottles of beverages are sold every day in the lunch-room.

The large quantities purchased make possible economical buying and therefore high quality.

It is for these reasons that the John Bartram Cafeteria is one of the most modern and economical in the city.

Sponsor

We, the members of the Trailmarker Staff, should like to take this opportunity to thank all those who cooperated with us in any way during the time we were compiling and editing the record book. All of the teachers and students were most helpful and willing to do all that they could to assist the staff.

To both Dr. Fellger and Mr. DiIoia the literary and business sponsors of the record book, goes our warmest thanks and sincerest appreciation. No record staff had two more willing and helpful sponsors.

Dr. Fellger's main task was to advise the staff in its work. Not once did she order or command us in any way. We are very grateful for her many helpful suggestions.

Mr. DiIoia, who took care of all the financial details of the book, did a fine job of keeping us out of the red. Without his expert work the record book could never have been a success.

STAFF

We would also like to extend special thanks to Mr. Boerckel, Special Assistant to the Principal, who took it upon himself to keep things running smoothly and to help us over any difficulties, and to Betty Moore who, although not an official member of the staff, did a great deal of secretarial work on the book.

Mr. Currinder, who took quite a few of the informal pictures, also deserves our appreciation.

The Commerce Department deserves a real vote of thanks for splendidly preparing copy for us.

All in all, I think we were most fortunate in having such a co-operative faculty and student body. We have striven to turn out a book which would please everyone and we hope that we have succeeded in our purpose. At any rate, it was a pleasure to work for you, the members of the class of February, 1942.

There was an old woman who sponsored a book,
She had so many ducklings they filled every nook.
At last she got them all in a line
And the pages she briskly began to assign.

Jack Duck does the sports, Jim C. Duck the school;
Eleanor H. Duck and Betty class activities rule.
School activities brooded by Eleanor F. Duck
And they all go to work with plenty of pluck!

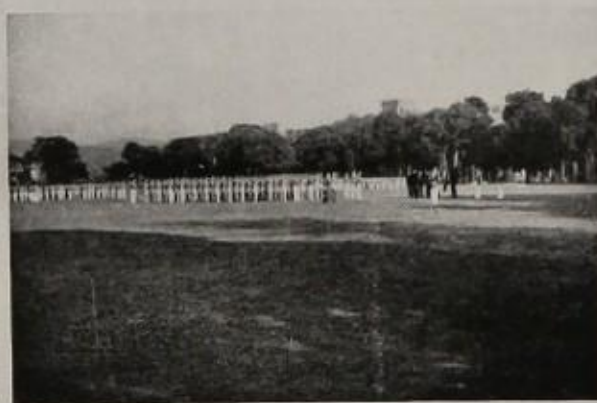

Assignments come in and pictures are snapped.
These two are combined and new pages mapped.
From his wing Jim H. Duck draws a fine plume—
His drawings, we're sure, will dispel all your gloom.

The book breaks its shell and it flies into form
And the record thus hatched lies before you still warm.
Thus their book with feathers so fine they adorn
And the loss of her ducklings their sponsor will mourn.

CLASS TRIP

Seated— Morton Botel, Estelle Smith, Bob Durning, Connie Bowen, Lillian Zellman.
Standing— Evelyn Slutsky, Doris McCarrick, Ben Frank, Betty Moore, Eleanore Hauser.

PROM COMMITTEE

"And a good time was had by all." Such were the sentiments of all who attended John Bartram's first joint Prom held at the Benjamin Franklin Crystal Ballroom on Saturday evening, December 13, 1941. The boys were really "sharp" in "tux" and the girls looked their very prettiest in sweeping gowns of silk, satin, and tulle.

THE DINNER DANCE

Every member of the Dinner Dance Committee gave his very best to make this affair one of the finest in our senior year. McCallister's Rose Room was reserved and on January 15, 1941, things started happening at 6:30 p. m. The orchestra, the flowers, the programs, and the menu were just perfect. All these resulted in one grand time.

CANDY COMMITTEE

Do you remember patronizing the candy tables during your 12A term? We hope you do, because the candy you bought that term helped to increase our class treasury.

The Class of February '42 followed the procedure of the preceeding senior classes who also sold candy after school hours to students and teachers. The sweets were selected and ordered each week by Mrs. Rotman, who also took charge of all bookkeeping concerned and supervised the girls who sold the candy.

This money-making scheme proved to be a great success. At the close of the term, approximately fifty-five dollars were deposited in our treasury.

CLASS DAY COMMITTEE

The Class Day Committee, capably headed by Morton Botel, sponsored the best "class day" a senior class could have. Held at the Brookline Country Club, a full-course dinner was served and two hours of splendid entertainment was offered by members of the class. A precedent was set that succeeding classes will have to work hard to beat. A unanimous vote of gratitude and appreciation is due Morton and his co-workers.

TRAILMARKER BUSINESS STAFF

Congratulations to the members of the Trailmarker Business Staff and the members of the Class of February '42 for the fine support they have shown in obtaining advertisements for the Trailmarker.

Our officers, Grace Beach, business manager; Jane Hunnicutt and Dorothy Doll, assistant managers; and Betty Currinder, secretary, have done a fine job in inspiring the staff, for they have contributed much time and hard work.

Bartram's Athletic Association

In every school where athletics are one of the activities, a supporting financial association is needed. Our school has created the Bartram Athletic Association, better known to the students as the A. A.

Under the sponsorship of Mr. Ball the A. A. has done a remarkable piece of work. It has performed many duties, including the equipping of all athletic teams, transportation to the games and proper seating facilities at them, the printing of A. A. books and schedules. It represents all students either as members of our school athletic teams or as spectators at the games.

A tribute is due to Mr. Ball who for the last three years has prepared athletic programs and the present system of buying an A. A. book. The capable work of Mr. Ball, President Mike Valenza, and all A. A. representatives, past and present, is greatly appreciated by the students.

First Row— Mary Boyle, Betty Currinder, Alice Coder. Second Row— Thelma Senatore, Sara Gordon, Adeline Allen, Catherine Young, Alice Criswell. Third Row— Katherine Vanaman, Margaret Zappini, Kathryn McGonigle, Edna McDowell, Jane McVeagh.

The Girls' Athletic Association

The Girls' A. A. was organized in order to create a service point system to be used in making awards to girls for their participation in athletics. The Association was organized in the spring of 1941. The officers are Katherine McGonigle, president; Peggy Zappini, vice-president; Josephine DeCamera, secretary; and Edna McDowell, treasurer.

Although the Girls' A. A. has been organized only a short time, it has accomplished a great deal. Most of the girls in the school are members, and in the near future the Association hopes to do great things for Girls' Athletics at John Bartram.

THANKSGIVING DAY GAME

The third annual Thanksgiving football classic, played at Pearson Field, between Overbrook High School and Bartram High School was climaxed with a Bartram victory, 13 to 7.

There was no scoring throughout the first half due to a stubborn Overbrook defense. The Maroon and Gray boys were first to score. In the third quarter the Clippers drove 50 yards to Overbrook's 30. A pass, Spillane to Captain Davis, was good for a Bartram score. Janczyk converted. Score: Bartram 7, Overbrook 0.

The Hilltoppers could gain nothing through Bartram's line and were forced to kick out of bounds to the Clippers' 30. A 70-yard drive was climaxed with Spillane heaving a touchdown pass to Gullifer. Jansczak's conversation was low, as the third period ended. Score: Bartram 13, Overbrook 0.

The Clippers were on the march again, late in the final quarter. However, a Bartram scoring play rebounded and Hoggard intercepted a pass and galloped 90 yards for an Overbrook touchdown. Pecussi kicked for the extra point. Score: Bartram 13, Overbrook 7.

The Thorntonmen stiffened and checked any further Overbrook threat. The game ended with Bartram in possession of the ball. Final score: Bartram 13, Overbrook 7.

Cheerleaders and Band

From the beginning of spring practice until the very last game, Coach Thornton could be seen drilling his boys to block hard and tackle hard. Thus he has emphasized to his squad the two fundamentals which make a good football team, and Coach Thornton did turn out a good football team.

The Clippers established an excellent record of five wins, two losses, and one tie. The team opened the season with the new Public High League Champion, West Philly. Bartram outplayed the Speedboys throughout the battle. The game ended in a 0-0 tie. Penn Charter knocked any thoughts of an undefeated season out of our heads when they won 7 to 6. Bartram then romped through successively Olney, 19 to 0; Gratz, 19 to 0; Germantown Academy, 12 to 7; and Valley Forge Military Academy, 27 to 13. The Clippers in the game with V. F. M. A. piled up their largest score of three seasons, 27 points. A 6 to 0 defeat at the hands of Southern was a hard one to lose. At the Thanksgiving game, Overbrook was caught by Bartram on the rebound and suffered a 13 to 7 defeat.

Coach Thornton developed one of the best passing attacks of any school in Philadelphia. Bartram owed its scores largely to the expert arm of Speakman and two great ends, Captain Davis and Rejebian. The defense strength of the team was strong, as is shown by the record. Only one team was able to score more than one touchdown against the Thorntonmen and that was V. F. M. A.

A tribute is due to Mr. Thornton for his excellent coaching. Spending most of the spring term with the squad, he drilled them into a co-operating machine. Due to numerous injuries, he was forced to shift his lineup frequently, but was always able to put a strong team on the field. Coach Thornton taught his boys to play good, hard, clean football, and he gave them the fighting spirit to come from behind and win. Mr. Thornton was a great athlete and now he is a great coach.

BASKETBALL

Charles Brown, Larry McCandlis, James Vollmer, Charlie Gillen, Len Weiner, Joe Piston, Dave Pagel, Henry Gillingham, Menchy Goldblatt (coach), Bernard Cherry, Sam Silverstein, Shorty Coughlin, Reds Speakman, Gene Mangeni, Milt Cohen, Bob Durning, Doc Swigler, Paul Kelley, Jack MacLaughlin, Chester Kochesperger.

Coach Menchy Goldblatt is beginning his second year as coach of Bartram's basketball team and is looking forward to a great Clipper season. An experienced squad is on hand with the return of six lettermen and the addition of some promising youngsters.

This year's squad has been practicing since the middle of September. Coach Goldblatt has them out every day to prepare for the coming season. Many scrimmages have been played with other schools and the Bartram boys have looked very promising.

Coach Goldblatt is anxious this year to turn out another championship team, this time in basketball. He is a great coach and the boys will be giving all they have for him and the school. Here's wishing them the best of luck and a prosperous season.

BASEBALL

Harry Herrmann, Gene Cascorella, Captain Norman Swigler, Vince DiMagistris, Harry Weidman, George Brown, Jack Fortin, Cliff Lord, Jerry Rullo, Al Davis, Joe Melsheimer, Bob Coughlin, Eddie Miller.

From the sandlots of Southwest Philadelphia has come a group of athletes to form one of the finest baseball combinations in the history of the Public High League.

Under the great leadership of Coach Menchy Goldblatt, our Bartram High boys completed their fifteen-game schedule without a defeat, in their first venture in the league.

Bartram's champion team was honored in the auditorium and received the Princeton Cup, emblematic of the Public High School League Championship. An interesting program was held. Members of the Phillies were included as speakers. Presentation of the trophy was made by Harry Snyder, director of the League, to Captain Swigler. Coaches and captains of other league teams were also present.

Awarding of letters and sweaters was made by Coach Goldblatt.

Jay Vee Football

Finishing its third successful football season, Bartram's second team has annexed its second championship since entering the Public High League.

This year the team was excellently coached by a new member of our Physical Education Department, Mr. John Klingman.

Of the three tough years on the gridiron, the Jay Vee squads have come through with only one defeat. The first two years the teams were undefeated but unfortunately lost the initial game this season to West Philly; but Coach Klingman's boys romped through the other teams with victories over Southern, Central, Olney, Overbrook, Ben Franklin and Frankford, and finished the season undisputed champions.

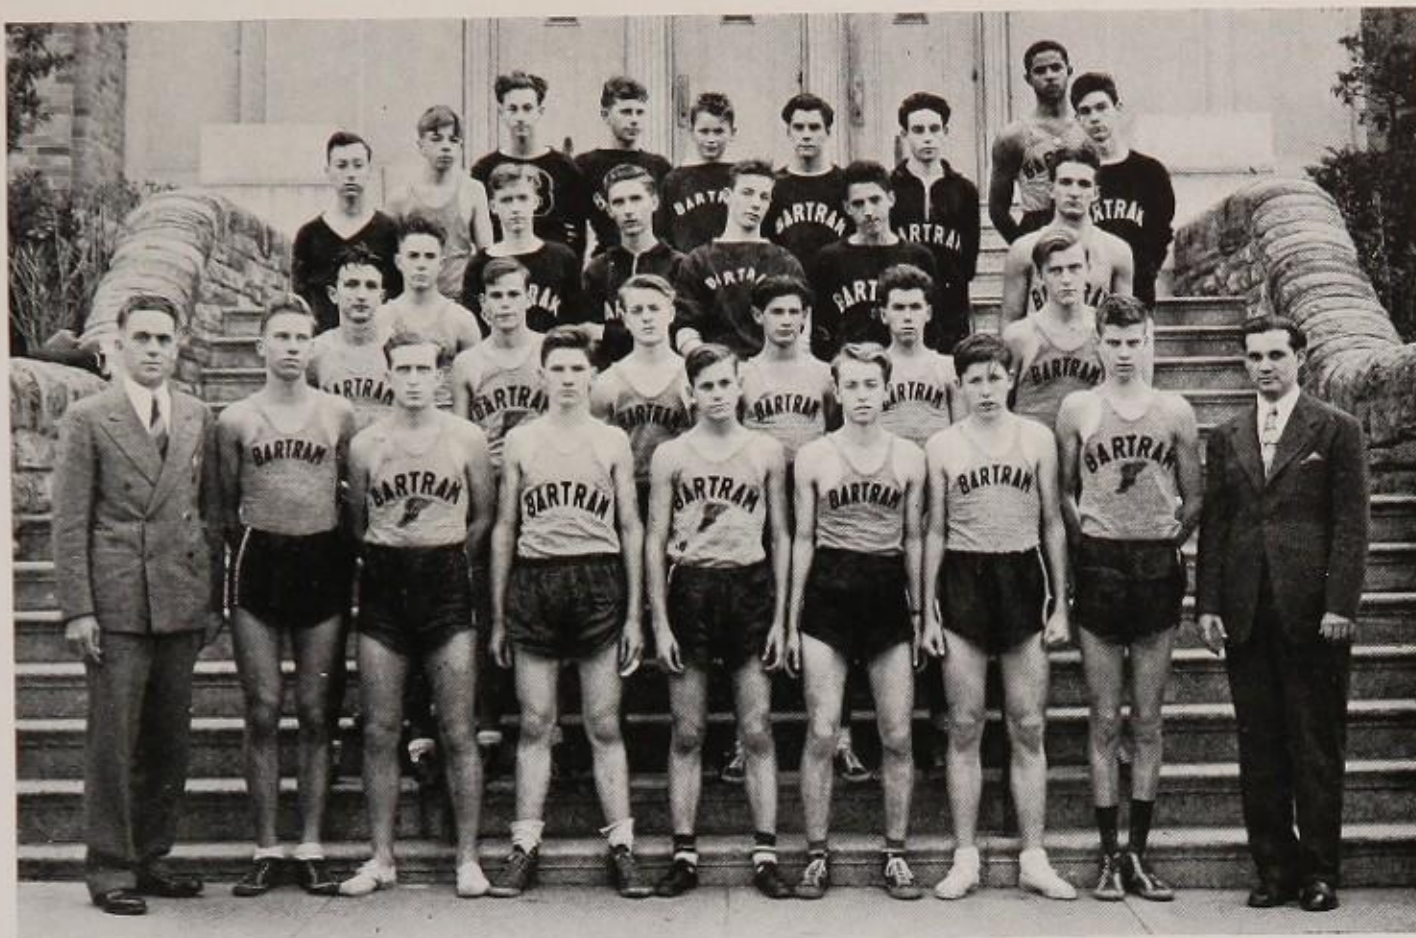

Gym Team

The team has completed three successful years and Coach Keebler speaks with pride of last year's team which finished fourth in its initial entrance into Public High League competition — an excellent showing for the "green" gymnasts.

Mr. Keebler has some excellent gymnasts in Bonsall, Buchanan, and Greer. With last year's experience and many of last year's letter men back, Coach Keebler is confident that Bartram's gym team will give the other high schools plenty of competition and will have its best season next term.

CROSS COUNTRY

Bartram's cross-country team finished its third successful season under the coaching of Mr. Schott. Headed by Captain Joe Mazzeo, the Clippers were able to come away with three firsts, two seconds, and one last place.

The squad was victorious over Olney, St. Thomas More, Ben Franklin, Gratz, Southern and again Olney. Captain Mazzeo was the main attack of the team. He was one of the best school runners in Philly and finished among the leaders.

In the Public High League Championship meets, at Fairmount Park, eight league teams competed. Bartram placed sixth and was a few points behind Southern, who placed fifth. The meet was won by the boys from Northeast. The second team championships were also held at the Park. The Clipper's Jay Vee squad placed fifth out of a possible seven.

Mr. Schott is looking forward to having a championship team at Bartram. He is tutoring his boys in the tricks of the running game and gives a proud gleam when next year's possibilities are spoken of.

TENNIS CLUB

Under the auspices of Miss McDermott, this club has been meeting once a month in the girls' gym. This is the second year the club has been in existence.

As yet, the girls have encountered no opposition this season but Miss McDermott expects to schedule other schools to oppose them.

BOWLING CLUB

"It's a strike!" gleefully shouted one of the students of Miss McDermott's Bowling Club. The club has been meeting every Wednesday and Friday at the Elmwood Bowling Academy. This is the second term the club has been organized. Managers of the club are: 12B, Betty Smith; 12A, Theresa Volpe; 11B, Ruth Lind; 11A, Doris Wilkenson; 10A-B, Emma Ruppel.

DANCING CLUB

The rhythmic tapping of dancing feet and gentle swaying to the strains of a popular song may be seen any Wednesday afternoon in the Girls' Gym as the Dancing Club, ably coached by Miss Holden, meets to learn many new and intricate dance routines.

LEADERS' CLUB

The Leaders' Club, sponsored by Mrs. Marhefka, meets in the Girls' Gym each Monday afternoon. Picked as the most skilled athletes in their respective groups, they develop aims for the new term.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

The John Bartram High School organized its Alumni Association in June, 1940. The chief aim of this organization is to keep the graduates interested in their Alma Mater. As older, more mature individuals, they may have a definite influence on the policies of the school.

The secondary purpose is to keep graduates in contact with each other socially. A dance is sponsored by this group in the spring, and another in the fall, the night before Thanksgiving. The Thanksgiving Dance is to become a tradition of Bartram's Alumni Association.

Music Festival Executive Committee, January 16, 1942

The Bartram Music Festival, which is modeled upon the All-Senior High School Music Festival, was held in our auditorium on the evening of January 16, 1942. It included all the musical organizations in Bartram. Miss Easley, who shouldered the entire responsibility, directed the vocal ensemble of two hundred voices, the thirty-six piece orchestra and the girls' choral group of twenty-four voices. Mr. Goldman, director of the band, conducted that group of forty pieces.

Although this was the first music festival which Bartram has had, it will be repeated annually hereafter.

The soloists for this presentation were George Lunn, Beatrice Geiger, Christopher Brennan, and John Rejebian.

The following students served as the committee for sale of tickets and clerical work: Betty Slipakoff, Lillian Zellman, Sara Gordon, Louise Baus, Robert Durning, Maryann Harris, Robert Allen.

THE LAST WORD

Among the most pleasant contacts of a teacher's life is that in which she may meet students on an equal footing. A spirit of comradeship between staff and sponsor has gone into the making of this book, with free and friendly criticism of every step by all. The staff proved so able that the sponsor's part was to sanction rather than to advise. She hopes the association may abide as a fragrant, living memory.

ALICE E. FELLGER.

Bartram's Library

The Library at Bartram is housed in one of the finest rooms in the building. Our book collection numbers several thousand and is growing every term. It is a storehouse of material for recreation and information and as such is one of the most popular of the school services. The kindly help offered by Mrs. Pinson and her staff adds to the enjoyment of a visit to the Library.
